Quotes from Art Center Teen Leadership members:

“I’m really grateful for this opportunity to not only explore art with other teens and practice leadership and collaboration skills, but also to get to know people who go to other schools in the area.”

“The program made me realize that there is a broad range of opportunities that can be related to art through learning about the behind the scenes of events and hearing about the different kinds of jobs people have such as creating the art, curating the art, teaching the art and more.”

“I think I look more into what the piece is trying to tell me rather than just appreciating the aesthetic.”

“It has allowed me to enjoy being in museums more. I’ve also started taking more time and putting in more thoughts when looking at art. I actually used to dislike going to museums as I thought it was boring and useless; now I’m able to absorb little details and get inspiration for my own art.”

“The Art Center is a great place for people who love art, love to volunteer, or just want an opportunity to meet people and/or explore teamwork and leadership.”

Teen programs at the Palo Alto Art Center provide teens with opportunities to have a voice and be heard, expose teens to practicing artists, introduce teens to professional opportunities in the art world, showcase creativity as a tool for expression and relaxation, and create satisfying volunteer experiences.
